VALUABLE STOCKS STOLEN.

Taken From a Safety Deposit Box by Trusted Employee.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Behind the publication by a detective agency in Wall street of a notice warning brokers and bankers that the assignment on two certificates for 100 shares of United States Steel preferred stocks, amounting to $18,000 and one certificate for fifty shares of Michigan Copper mining stock worth about $500 had been forged is a report that the certificates were stolen by a trusted man in the employ of Edward Breitung of Marquette.

It is stated that the employee expressed a desire to take a short vacation three weeks ago. After he had gone Breitung feared that the man had left no definite address and told different persons various stories as to his destination. Suspicion was aroused and an examination of the safety deposit box to which the man had access was hurriedly made. It is said to have resulted in the discovery that several hundred shares were missing besides the certificates mentioned.

Breitung hurried east and found that the man already had transferred some of the shares to his own name. Owing to the form of assignment which the certificates bore there is some question as to who will have to bear the loss.
